

Cullen Scholefield fast track new HR Qualifications

Cullen Scholefield has launched the most comprehensive and flexible programme to achieve the latest professional qualifications for Human Resource (HR) and Learning & Development (LD) people, set by the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD).

The new programme, the first in the South East, is designed for professionals at the start of their career, to give a mid-career boost or for non-HR line managers who increasingly hold people development performance responsibilities.

Cullen Scholefield Managing Director, Maureen Scholefield, says: “The complete overhaul of the CIPD qualification process provides the opportunity to set up a truly flexible scheme which can provide every combination of skills development imaginable. In our programme, you choose what you study, when and how – it’s the professional equivalent of ‘Pick and Mix’.”
